Cornell University

We conducted a long-term study with Cornell University's Canine Nutrition Center. Learn more about it.

You shouldn't be the only one eating healthy.

Like no one else on pets and care about their health. That's why we created The Farmer's Dog — a service that delivers gently cooked, fresh(ly made) pet food with balanced recipes, guided by science, and driven by love.

Real Food
Human-grade ingredients and veggies to simple, whole-food recipes.

Human-Grade Safety
Safety and quality standards exceed human food standards.

Gently Cooked
Gentle cooking keeps food and nutritional integrity.

Vet-Developed
Nutritious meal recipes meet AAFCO standards.

Build My Personalized Plan

It's time for a fresh approach to pet food.

Tested on Humans
By sending fresh directly to you, we can make it human-grade, human-tested and fresher food. Quality never found in a bowl. Learn more about the importance of real food.

"Meats"
Freedom like "Chicken Meal" can contain bones and other low-quality parts.

Preservatives
Natural and artificial preservatives can keep pet food shelf stable for years.

Brown Pellets
Kibble is extremely dehydrated regardless of the ingredient chosen on packaging.

Label Tricks
Foods can hide behind language like "Meals With Beef" or "Chicken Recipe".
